The coming of Kenshō

Italian shipyard Admiral celebrated the launch of its new flagship, 246ft Kenshō, which was developed in close collaboration with Azure Yacht Design and Naval Architecture and project manager Technical Marine UK. With a diesel-electric and pod propulsion system and unconventional design inside and out, Kenshō will be a standout on the charter market next year, offered by Y.CO. The yacht's interior by Jouin Manku reaches for new heights – literally, with a ceiling height a few inches short of 9ft, and figuratively (“Kenshō” signifies enlightenment). “The yacht integrates the best ideas of both residential and yacht design to create a new quality of living at sea,” the owner said at her launch. Stay tuned for more on this newcomer to the superyacht fleet, with delivery expected before the summer. theitalianseagroup.com
